GAINESVILLE, Miss. - Certain instrumentation systems for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's new Mississippi Test Operations will be provided by Astron, a division of Aerojet General Corporation, Covina, California under a $18,254,800 contract awarded recently by the NASA-Marshall Space Flight Center in Huntsville, Ala.

The California company will design, furnish and install instrumentation for a control center, data acquisition facility, data handling center and a test stand which will be used in the static firing for the second (S-11) stage of the Saturn V Rocket. The Saturn V is the Apollo Moon Rocket. In addition, Astron will do preliminary design on some other elements of the instrumentation system. Contracts for the provision and installation of these other elements will be awarded at a later date.

In general terms, the purpose of the instrumentation system is to collect, transmit and convert to usable form the large volume of test data which will result from the captive firing of rocket engines and stages. Astron will sub-contract a part of this work - amounting to about $1,500,000 - to Sverdrup and Parcel and Assoc. of St. Louis.

Most of the "hardware" will be bought by Astron from other firms through competitive bidding. This is also the case on installation of the equipment.

The contract covers a two and one half year period and will be supervised by the Marshall Center, of which MTO is a part.

Colonel D. A. Raymond, U. S. Army District Engineer at Mobile, Alabama, announced today the award of a contract amounting to $2,163,238.20 to Carpenter Brothers of Dallas, Texas, for additional construction at the Mississippi Test Facility, the lunar rocket proving ground being built by the Corps of Engineers in south Mississippi for the George C. Work is expected to begin shortly and to be completed by the end of July next year. The Corps of Engineers sent advance notices soliciting bids on this job to 1617 contractors and material suppliers. Furnished plans and specifications on request to 48 prime contractors and material suppliers, and received 10 bids from prime contractors. This contract was set aside for award to a small business firm.

14-YEAR OLD BOY RESCUED FROM BRIDGE

A 14-year old New Orleans boy was rescued Monday when he was stranded on a fender of the Bay bridge.

Chief Deputy Sheriff Gerald Price Jr. said Glenn Piper and his father Charles C. Piper were caught in a sudden squall Monday while sailing. The boy got off on the bridge the officer said and the father attempted to come in, but high winds prevented his doing so. He drifted to the L&N Railroad bridge at Henderson Point and went to shore. The boy and boat were brought back to Bay-Waveland Yacht Club by Price and Bernard Piazza, who is in charge of water rescue in the sheriff's department.

NOLAN S. LADNER SEEKING BEAT 5 JUSTICE OF THE PEACE

We are authorized to announce the candidacy of Nolan S. Ladner for the office of Justice of the Peace, Beat Five, Post 2, in the forthcoming August Primary election.

Mr. Ladner's statement to the voters of Beat 5, follows: To the citizens of Beat Five, Hancock County, Mississippi:

I take this opportunity to make my official announcement as a candidate for the office of Justice of the Peace, Post Number 2, Beat Five, Hancock County, subject to the Democratic Primaries to be held in August of this year.

Most of you, I believe, know me personally, since I served you as Justice of the Peace in this Beat, during the years 1956-1960, inclusive, and more recently have been serving in this County as your assessor.

I am fifty-two years of age, and have lived in Bay St. Louis all of my life. I am married and have three children; my wife was formerly E. Hel Strahan of Pearl River, Mississippi.

In offering myself as a candidate for this office, I do not claim to be able to create a perfect community over-night, nor do I claim that I can immediately turn all of our young people into outstanding examples of propriety; but I do say that as the father of three children, I am fully aware of the problems of the young people of this community, and I will endeavor in every way to assist in solving these problems.

All cases of any kind which come before me will be given prompt and courteous consideration, and I will in every case deal justly and fairly between the parties involved. I will, if elected, cooperate fully with all other law enforcement officers in this County and Beat.

In making the above statements, I feel that they are fully justified by my record of service in this office in prior years, and by my record as law enforcement officer for the Fish and Game Commission, the position which I held until my recent resignation from that office.

If you see fit to elect me to this office, I assure you that during my term of office, I will devote my time and efforts to any problem that you see fit to con-

Eight members attended a bi-monthly meeting of the Area Promotion Committee of Hancock County Chamber of Commerce at Lenfant's at 12 noon Tuesday, July 9. Present were Dix Ashman, chairman, Mmes. Polly Vogen and Herman Mazarakis, Russell Elliott, Rev. Charles Johnson, Tom Logue, Keith Colby and Fred Rose.

Rev. Johnson, Msgr. Hannon and Rev. Emery Green were appointed to a clerical committee to ascertain the possibility of obtaining a complete listing of all newcomers to the area.

Under discussion were the local school system, the upcoming poster contest, Chamber membership drive and the necessity of hiring a fulltime director for this group.

It was also reported by Fred Rose in the absence of Frank Ealus, that the president of L & N Railroad had assured him that two men would be sent to Bay St. Louis to make a two-week survey of the area to determine the practicability of installing a spur line to serve the MTO.

Maps obtained by Keith Colby from a Picayune restaurant were shown and it was noted that an absolutely false picture of the area and nearness to the buffer zone was given.

The next meeting is to be at Ray's Restaurant at 12 noon Tuesday, July 23.

FARM BUREAU DIRECTORS MEET

The Hancock County Farm Bureau directors and the legislative committee met Tuesday night at North Central School with prospective Hancock County legislative members to discuss proposed legislation that may come up in the 1964 session of the Legislature.

REVIVAL CONTINUES

The revival at the Pearlington Baptist Church which began at 7:30 p. m. Wednesday, July 10, will continue until 7:30 p. m. Sunday.

Rev. Jack Ponce will be the preacher and James Sledge, song leader. Both are from the Baptist Theological Seminary in New Orleans.

CYO DANCE

Our Lady of the Gulf Catholic Youth Organization members assisted by Mrs. Gustave Thomas, Mrs. Marion Beal, A. J. Monti and Pat Murphy entertained with a dance Tuesday night at the Knights of Columbus Hall.

sult me about, and will give you all the assistance in my power. I would like to call your attention to the fact that there are two Justices of the Peace for this Beat, one of whom serves in Post Number 1, and one of whom serves in Post Number 2, and my candidacy is for Post Number 2. The reason for calling this to your attention is that this is the first election to be held under the new law which requires electors to vote for a candidate for each Post, instead of voting for two candidates for the same office, as was done in the past.

I will appreciate your influence and your vote for me as Justice of the Peace for Post Number 2, Beat Five.

Respectfully,
NOLAN S. LADNER

The new St. John's Catholic Church in Lakewood was dedicated Sunday noon with the Most Rev. Bishop Joseph Brundini officiating. A large number of priests from the Coast and surrounding parishes attended. Following Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament, the members of the altar society in charge.

MISSISSIPPI CROP SUMMARY

Two weeks of scattered rain have greatly improved crop and pasture conditions in Mississippi. In some counties too much rain has been received and others still need more, but generally things are better than a week ago and still improving.

Cotton was reported as mostly good and with two reports of excellent and only two as poor. Corn conditions were mostly fair to good, but for some the rains came too late. Hay crops are still poor in some areas, but late hay is being planted. Soybeans remain fair to good. Truck crops were mostly good, north, and about equally mixed of poor, fair and good in the central and southern parts of the state.

As Mississippi... As Magnolias

Patriotic Mississippians consider "name-calling" and deliberate distortion of facts by Boston and New York controlled companies in poor taste.

As home owned, home operated Mississippi Corporations, the Electric Power Associations in this state are keenly aware of the dangers of socialism which exist today. We stand in the front line of battle to do combat with those who would destroy the American way of life.

Based upon true democratic ideals and the basic principals of free enterprise, these systems are owned and operated by nearly a million Mississippians. Each family, farm or business served by an Electric Power Association owns a share of it. Each system is a Mississippi Corporation.

The member-owners of these Electric Power Associations elect their own boards of directors from among themselves to conduct the business affairs of their corporation. The owner-members and their directors are farmers, merchants, businessmen, teachers, preachers... all Mississippians, all Americans. They are interested in and concerned with local, state and national problems. They are vitally interested in keeping America free, and are dedicated to the principal of local, self government. They are the typical... the "average" Mississippian.

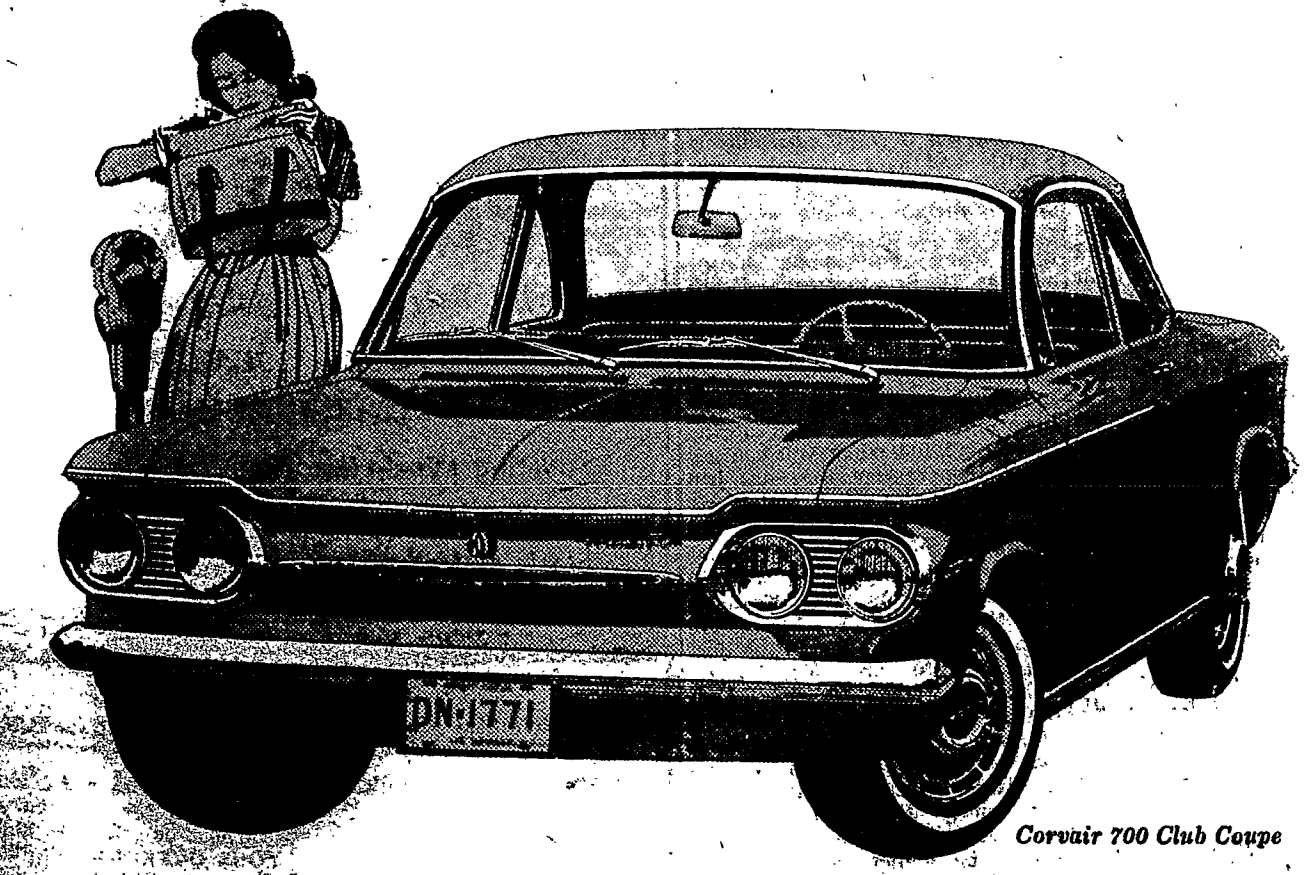

Why do we make such an obvious statement? Because there are those who, for personal profit reasons, would have you believe otherwise. When private power companies make their unwarranted, unreasonable charges based on half truths, untruths and twisted, distorted facts, they are violating the principals of common decency which every Mississippian holds dear.

Because of the very nature of our formation and operation, we ARE the people we serve. Our critics, by contrast, are owned and controlled by directors and financiers in Boston and New York. When these out-of-state people condemn Mississippi's Electric Power Associations, they are condemning almost a million Mississippi people - and institutions which are as Mississippi as Magnolia Blossoms.

Attacks on EPAs are made by companies which, in violation of the basic principals of the free enterprise system, seek to annihilate all forms of competition.

Corvair 700 Club Coupe

The hardest part about parking a Corvair is finding a nickel
 That may be a slight overstatement, but such jaunting comes easily when you're a Corvair owner.
 And you can usually back it up—as easily as you can back up a Corvair. You'll find your own doing that occasionally, if only to adjust the brakes—they're self-adjusting. That's all there is to it, and that's a good example of how delightfully easy Corvair is to own, drive and maintain.
 But since we began by talking about driving, let's stick with that while a large fraction to the fun of driving a Corvair is the location of its engine in the rear. Why the rear? It gives Corvair extra traction on any road surface. It provides a nearly flat floor for more useable interior space. Best of all, it produces steering so light, so responsive, you wonder why no other American-made car thought of it.
 Corvair's engine is also air cooled, we might add, which means there's no anti-freeze or water for you to add. Ever.
 All that pleasure from something so practical almost makes you think Corvair is unique among American cars. Which isn't surprising, because it is!

I guess the big event of the week was the Deep Sea Fishing Rodeo in Gulfport. It was the world's largest fishing rodeo and one had to agree after seeing A great many participated and even a greater number attended.

All sorts of records were broken, some even shattered like the record for flounders was 5 pounds 10 ounces which was caught in 1950. The new record caught this year is 7 pounds 2 ounces. Many other such records were broken.

I would imagine the biggest eyecatcher was the 500 pound shark.

Many rodeos are sponsored like this to get everyone interested in this great sport and also to show just how good other fishermen are when there's competition biting at their heels. From all appearances it looked like one of the biggest crowds ever.

CONSERVATION SCHOOL

The 23rd annual Boys Conservation School, sponsored by the Mississippi Forestry Association, will be held at Roosevelt State Park the week of July 28, according to an announcement by Wayne Burrage of Louisville.

Burrage, Agricultural and Forestry Agent for the G M & O Railroad and chairman of the MFA state Boys Conservation School Committee, said that teams of four boys each from the 64 hill counties of the state are expected to attend the school.

The boys who attend are in the 8th through the 10th grades in school and are selected by local conservation leaders including the Area Forester, County Agent, Game Warden, Vocational Agriculture teacher and Work Unit Conservationist. The selections are based on the interest shown by the boys in the conservation and wise use of our basic natural resources of timber, water, soil and wildlife.

Local clubs, industries, businesses and individuals sponsor the boys and furnish the nominal subsistence allowance required.

Instruction is given in the subject of forestry, soil and water, and wildlife conservation by professionals in each field. Instructors and counselors are provided by Illinois Central Railroad, International Paper Co., and the field instruction the boys have use of the many recreational facilities of the park during each day.

The schools were established in 1941 by the Mississippi Forestry Association which recruits individuals and companies to assist in developing the conservation and related resources.

Our sincere desire to keep the organization going, but in order to do this we must have people to assist as chaperones. We appealed to the youth members of the Youth Center to get their parents to attend the Youth Center as chaperones and/or Youth Center members, in order to keep the organization together but have had little success. We feel through this means, we can reach the parents to let them know of our need of their help to chaperone all events. Not only residents, but visitors to the community can attend and be members. This includes children and adults. Membership is $1.00 per person per year.

Youth Center is opened Saturday night from Seven-ten (7:30) to Ten-Thirty (10:30) for juke box dances. When it is engaged the time is from Eight to Twelve P. M.

All events open a youth center building he or she is not to leave and re-enter the center. If at any time a youth goes before closing time, the time is recorded. Each youth who enters the premises is registered.

We do not serve alcoholic beverages. We allow it on the premises if a youth is - under the influence of alcohol he or she is not to enter the building.

During the time we have been open we have had no major problems.

We would like to extend a personal invitation to any and all interested in our youth center and teenagers to attend the Youth Center Saturday night, July 15, 8:00 p. m. at the Youth Center, 1000 Mount Harbor.

We wish to thank you, the Editor, for your help in the Youth Center of the Youth of our community.

Sincerely Yours,

Organization of auto race mechanics and owners of the industry representative has adopted a rule prohibiting any spectators other than past customers and nonparticipants from watching auto races because of the danger.

Now that softball has been in full swing for about a month, I'd like to review the games played and make a look at the teams. The Kiln seems like they just aren't what we do. It's hard to say just what the main problem for this team is; maybe more practice will tell. Crankey's like the Kiln started off bad but were able to pull out a win and have improved considerably. Hand's is a team that's doing everything needed and will win close in the play offs. They have many outstanding players such as Fly Seuzeneau who is one of the best players in the league. Now this brings us to another team who are just the same as the industrial's and it is Industrial. Industrial just needs a break. They play hard and good. Really there isn't too much you can say about them except they are just about to have to play a little hard.

Now starting with the two teams that are tied for third place and are the amazing Reimike's and the remarkable CYO. These two teams could be just the opposite of each other. Reimike's, you might say are of the older generation and the CYO are the younger generation. These two teams have been threatening to be the two top teams in the league ever since the season started and are still kicking around and could be higher than they are. But they shouldn't be taken for granted which I'm sure they aren't.

Moving to the number 2 team Southern Realty, there isn't much to say except go to the next game. They aren't too far out of first place. As a matter of fact they are too close and surely not the least, the number one team. I say, more! Let's Transalva give the best for this season. They are in first place and will fly high. The splendid work they have been doing all season, even though many handicaps have been in back occasionally they have come back with true sportsman ship blood.

Nothing on the highway and the road bridge has been very popular this summer. It is very hard to be seen and it is very hard to find it. I haven't heard of any of the catches but there are people out there every day. There must be something in it. It is even if it's not

Social Security

Many workers over the age of 65 who should stop into the local office for information on the possibility for receiving Social Security payments. Mr. Drane, District Manager of the Hancock County Social Security Office, said today. Many people have the impression that they cannot receive any Social Security money because they are now working and earn over $1200 a year. However, Mr. Drane stated that a person can still receive some money from the Social Security program. Mr. Drane said:

ROADSIDE RABBIT COUNT TO BE CONDUCTED IN JULY

Game Biologist of the Game and Fish Commission, Pete Heard, is now in progress of preparing to conduct the annual Roadside Rabbit Count. This count is conducted by Area Managers and Law Enforcement Officers. Mr. Heard, "As these men drive along the road they note how many young and old rabbits they see. From the number of rabbits seen in each 100 miles of driving, we can determine if there is a fluctuation in our rabbit population. From this information we predict what the hunters' success will be during the coming hunting season," stated Heard.

The roadside count is taken in July because this month has been pinpointed as the peak observation month, according to Heard.

This is just another way that the Game and Fish Commission is trying to help protect and increase the game for the hunters of Mississippi.

STATE TRAFFIC LAW NEED CITED BY PATROL LEADER

Mississippi's traffic accident picture is a very gloomy one with an average of 2,222 accidents each hour, one injury every hour and a death every 11 hours — can be lightened considerably, but it will take more realistic laws, especially traffic laws, and more enforcement.

This is what Grady Gilmore, director of public information and public relations with the Mississippi Highway Safety Patrol, told the convention of state optometrists Monday at Broadwater Beach Hotel, Biloxi.

NEEDFUL AREAS

Some areas where Gilmore said improvement is needed in existing legislation are:

It is a common practice in some areas for drunken drivers who are arrested to forfeit their bond and not lose either their driving license or car tag.

Since the state does not require periodic re-examination of drivers it is even possible for a blind person to retain his driver's license.

The present Justice of the Peace system places a burden upon both the judge and six-man jury trying a traffic violator by not paying them if they don't find the defendant guilty.

Traffic cases are not required by law to be tried in a public place provided either by the city or county.

A new kind of stainless steel conveyor-fed radar oven which can heat hundreds of meals per hour from frozen state to ready-to-eat, was recently put on the market. It is designed for mass-feeding establishments such as colleges, hospitals, hotels and restaurants.

NASA News..

HUNTSVILLE, ALA. — An experimental sound suppressor which may be a forerunner of a muffler to muffle the noise from big rocket boosters, is being tested at the NASA Marshall Space Flight Center.

The king-size muffler, a water-lined tank 128 feet long, 24 feet high and 24 feet wide, is one-sixth the size of a drawing board version of a silencer that could be used for the Saturn V and other large rockets.

Rocket noises — mainly the low frequency ones — are being suppressed efficiently with the novel muffler, which is being used in the Center's unique sound suppressor development program.

An H-1 engine, which produces 165,000 pounds thrust, is fired into the muffler to test the effectiveness of its design.

Marshall Center engineers, exploring the really new field of rocket engine sound suppression, have found that they can squelch the noise generated by miniature scale engines by a factor of ten. They are now proving their findings with the large scale version.

Fritz Kramer, who is directing the program, said suppression of high-intensity sound as generated by rocket engines is so new there are no specific requirements for suppressors.

"We only know if we can get a sound reduction of more than 10 decibels (a factor of 10) this would give sufficient sound reduction to prevent annoyance to outlying communities during large booster tests.

"Sound pressures will be so high on test stands built for future large stages," Kramer said, "there will be a need to have something to reduce noise thus preventing damage to delicate rocket parts.

Several suppressor designs have been checked in scale-models but the new suppressor test facility will "help us refine our approach when we apply it to full scale."

"Development of large suppressors costs a lot of money," he said, "so we are working with models that have the same effectiveness but are much cheaper to build."

Kramer, a special assistant to the director of the Test Division, said a 23-foot model, one-seventh the size of the present set-up, was used to check out the design principle.

Important suppressor design work began about six months ago while some exploratory work was done last year.

"To suppress sound generated by rocket exhausts," Kramer pointed out, "you must reduce the velocity of the jet as soon as it leaves the nozzle."

The problem is aggravated because the jet is not only traveling at a high velocity of several thousand feet per second — it is also composed of extremely hot gases on the order of 3,000 degrees Fahrenheit.

Kramer said the jet's velocity is reduced by "mass addition," that is, adding mass — in this case water — to the fast moving gases. Some sound is not generated by this slowing action, he said, and most of the low and extremely low frequency noise left is kept from escaping into the atmosphere by the three-foot thick suppressor walls.

Kramer stated that low frequency noise does not attenuate quickly, as does other noise, and is an annoying by-product of static firings. When focused by weather conditions, low frequency sound can be heard and felt many miles from the test site.

Kramer, explaining the suppressor principle, said the fast moving engine gases create a low pressure in the "muffler" chamber causing water standing in the upper jacket to be pulled into the jet.

Some 9,000 pounds (1,100 gallons) of water a second are mixed with the jet. Kramer said this is about 14 pounds of water for every pound of propellant burned by the engine. The engine uses about 650 pounds of liquid oxygen and kerosene a second.

Kramer said the steam and gases rise to the top of the closed suppressor and go through a spray before escaping to the outside air. The spray cools the steam causing it to condense into water again.

The steam, having been converted to water, is fed back into the jacket. Kramer said there are approximately 150,000 gallons of water in the suppressor jacket and during a firing the flow rate is some 66,000 gallons a minute.

Acoustic measurements are made during tests to check the effectiveness of the muffler. Twelve poles, placed in a half circle 320 feet from the stand, hold microphones at engine level. Single recording devices are arranged at varying distances to record sound attenuation.

Kramer said acoustic reference levels were established for the site and the engine by using a dry deflector.

He said the suppressor work is directed toward the design of a silencer for the Saturn V booster.

COUNTY AGENT'S NOTES

O. O. SWORDS

County Agent

Now is the time to start getting ready for the busy fall grazing planting season, says O. O. Swords, County Agent.

Among his suggestions are:

"Buy fall seeds early or you may be left out or have to buy varieties not recommended and at a higher price."

"Start fallowing land now for early planting of the early fall grazing crops."

"Start now applying lime on pastures where clovers are growing or are to be planted this fall. Most areas need a ton of lime to

(SIC) which will be tested at the Marshall Center in the fall of 1964.

He said the H-1 sound suppressor is an "intermediate" size model compared with the one proposed for the Saturn V.

The Test Division engineer pointed out that there is presently a one to 40 scale model of the SIC suppressor in the shop. This model is being used for testing the "conceptual design" of a silencer for the 7.5 million-pounds thrust stage.

Kramer predicts that sound suppressors for large static stands are practical.

"We think what we have accomplished is about optimum for the present design approach and is particularly valuable because the sound suppressor is very efficient in the low frequency range."

the more and more heavy loads needs two tons for good legume growth.

"One of the best methods I know to get rid of broomsedge is to plow the area, follow during the summer and plant oats or wheat," he advised. "Apply lime during the fallowing period and fertilize the small grains highly. Next spring apply more fertilizer for pastures and the broomsedge will disappear."

SAVINGS BONDS

As surely as good harvest is the cornerstone of farm prosperity, America's strength is the cornerstone of world peace.

In the world today, there can be no substitute for strength. America must keep strong to keep the peace.

Our most effective weapon is "peace power" — strength so great as to deter aggression. But national defense is costly. That's why your government asks you to buy United States Savings Bonds and to buy them regularly. By purchasing Savings Bonds each of us is doing his part to protect and keep America free. There are, of course, other sound reasons for buying Savings Bonds. As an investment, they're hard to beat. The interest is guaranteed, and there's no safer way to save. Bonds are quickly convertible into cash, whenever you need it.

Once again, the group is appealing to the public to stop littering streets and sidewalks with paper cups, bags, cigarette packs, etc. Most littering can be avoided, Mrs. Ogden added, by a little thoughtfulness and some civic pride in the appearance of the town. She has asked that "We all work together on this project."

The new officers will be installed at the joint Jaycee-Jayette banquet July 20 at Bayside Park.

In 1962 there was a 25 per cent increase of imports of foreign steel products into the United States from the previous year. The four million tons imported was about double the two million tons of American steel which was exported.

Most everyone was busy over the 4th of July weekend with other things than fishing, such as entertaining guests and relatives, attending rodeos, boating, picnicking, swimming, etc. You can't do everything at the same time. From reports, fishing was fair but nothing to brag about. Some green trout and perch were caught with the fly rod as well as various salt water fish. The intense heat we have been experiencing makes it on the uncomfortable side to go fishing except in the early morning and afternoon hours.

Low tides have helped fishing considerably. Some speckles have been caught out at the marshes but not like they used to be.

The annual Mississippi Deep Sea Rodeo held last weekend according to reports was the largest and best ever held at Gulfport. Five new records were set. The records were for red fish, riptail, flounder, white perch and shell cracker perch. Of course there was the usual catch of other varieties of fish. This rodeo always attracts local as well as out of state participants. Robert Moody, Gulfport, landed a 99 1/2 pound tarpon to win first place in that division. The fish came within 5 1/2 pounds of the 105 pounds established by Herbert Hanson, Pass Christian in 1958. There are still plenty of these large fish in our waters.

Canoeing youngsters and others gained safety instructions in the proper handling of canoes and other small craft in City Park in New Orleans last week. The project was under the sponsorship of the American Red Cross.

The aspiring canoe paddlers are being taught not merely accepted paddling methods. They are shown the safe way to enter the canoes, how to exercise proper balance and make proper landings, and related matters. Boiling it down, the youngsters learn the rules of "seamanship" and the rules of the road," said instructor Hoermann.

Such projects are also helpful when it comes to handling skiffs and would be a good idea for this section where hundreds of fishermen could learn a lot of needed instruction and as a safety precaution to many.

Drownings are mostly caused by carelessness and lack of knowledge of proper handling of boats.

Another useful thing to know is the tying of knots for fastening boats to moorings, etc. The most used knots is the bowline and the clove hitch.

For tying fishing and fly lines some special knots are important to make baits have more action and knots that will not cut the line or leader when there is a big one on the other end.

Knot tying is an entertaining art and pays off in the end.

Boy Scouts are most efficient in knot tying as well as the old seasoned fishermen. Ask them to show you.

Played golf at City Park in New Orleans Sunday with Tony Enterante, Jr., and friends. Was glad to see Sid Cambias, an assistant Pro at the No. 2 course. Sid is an old timer at the game and is always courteous and willing to help others with their golf troubles. He is a good guy to know. Will be looking for that golf game Sid.

Anthony Protti and family are spending their vacation at the Ray with relatives. Anthony is from Belle Chasse, La., and loves his fishing and crabbing. Will help you enjoy it, Tony.

As usual Perre Quintini and Al den Mauffray made a good catch of fresh water fish on the 4th. They take advantage of every opportunity to enjoy their favorite sport.

Boys on the supply boat serving the all rigs out of Leesville report fishing hasn't been too hot the last week. They get the information first hand and tell us when fishing is good. Want to make that trip with you all soon.

Tony Enterante, Sr., and Bill Mauffray say they are pretty busy this time of the year but expect to catch up on their fishing when the summer months are over. Both are ardent fishermen and get their share of big rods and speckles. They fish mostly around Leesville, La.

Used to play golf at City Park in New Orleans when there was only one 9-hole course. Now there are three 18-hole courses open to the public, well kept and affordable. Want to play with you all sometime. Want to make that trip with you all soon.

It's still a good time and worth looking.

Met Henry Thomas, Pro at City Park. Henry has been Pro for quite a time. Talked of old times when we used to play with our old buddies. Henry Thomas, Sr., and his son, Henry Thomas, Jr., are both Pro's at City Park.

Only about 20 years ago.

Tony Enterante and Norris Deasche, Jr., made a nice catch of salt water fish at the old Higgins Slip recently. Tony said they were not too large, but made the flying pan stick, however.

Had a card from Al Mercier who is visiting his son in Wisconsin for a couple of weeks. Al said he is having a good time but anticipating his return home to get back to fishing.

Met a fellow the other day who said his doctor told him he was not getting enough exercise. He told the bar tender to please make the beer glass a little heavier.

As predicted last week the annual 4th of July Fair sponsored by the local American Legion was one of the largest and best ever given. The boys really know how to put a fair over.

AMONG OUR LOCAL SPORTS

MRS. GEORGE CUEVAS

Among our local anglers is the above. Mrs. Cuevas has been fishing and hunting most of her life. She likes nothing better and stands second to none when it comes to getting her share. Besides fishing it is not unusual to see her out front after soft crabs and flounders. She is also tops at this sport and knows her stuff. Any time at night is a good time to go after them she said and it's hard to keep out of the water when they are giving. Taught fishing and hunting by her deceased father (Battle Snake) Bill Favre she learned the hard way and can teach others. She is a lady but one of our best sports.

SOIL CONSERVATION NEWS

Mr. Alfred E. (Ford) Smith and Mr. Leroy Shaw, Sellers Community revised their farm plans with the Hancock County Soil Conservation District in June 1963.

H. F. Gustine Jr., Kiln, revised his plan to include recreational uses.

$6 MILLION IN ROAD CONTRACTS AWARDED

The largest amount of State Aid road contracts ever awarded in any one fiscal year was climaxed with nearly $6.0 million in contracts awarded during the month of June.

This announcement was made by Frank T. Moore, State Aid Engineer, who stated that work was contracted or authorized for advertisement in each of the 62 Counties during the year.

Contracts awarded by Boards of Supervisors during the fiscal year, consisting of 321 projects and costing $23.5 million, provide for 649.0 miles of bituminous surfacing and an additional 203.0 miles of grading, drainage, and gravel surface - a combined total of 852.0 miles of construction improvements. Contracts for resurfacing 250.0 miles of bituminous surface previously constructed as State Aid Projects were also awarded.

Mississippi's rural road program was set up by the Mississippi Legislature in 1908. The first contract was awarded in 1951, and during the intervening 12 years a little more than 51,000 miles of construction improvements have been completed or placed under contract. About 40,000 miles of this total are hard-surfaced.

State Aid contracts are awarded to the Boards of Supervisors subject to the overall supervision and approval by the State Aid Road Division.
